LEARNING ACTIVITY SHEET

Learning Area:	Life and Career Skills	Quarter:	2, Week 6
Lesson No.:	6	Date:
Lesson Title/ Topic:	Building Interpersonal Effectiveness through Social Interaction in Group Activities
Name:		Grade & Section:	11

I. Activity No. 1: Tower Building

II. Objective(s):

- a. Participate in a group task that enhances social interaction.
- b. Demonstrate effective communication and cooperation while working toward a shared goal.
- c. Reflect on your role in a team and how your group practiced interpersonal effectiveness.

III. Materials Needed

20 pieces of spaghetti sticks (uncooked) 1 meter of masking tape
 1 meter of string or yarn 1 large marshmallow (or small paper ball)
 Scissors (1 per group) Stopwatch or timer

IV. Instructions:

1. Form Your Team. Group yourselves into teams of 4–5 members. Assign roles such as Leader, Timekeeper, Materials Manager, Builder, and Presenter.
2. Understand the Challenge. Your team's goal is to build the tallest free-standing tower possible using only the materials provided. The tower must support the marshmallow (or paper ball) at the top.
3. Plan Your Design (5 minutes). Before building, discuss your team's strategy. Think about structure, strength, and how you'll divide the tasks.
4. Build Your Tower (15 minutes). Work together, using only the given materials. Use your time wisely, communicate often, and support each other in completing the task.
5. Test and Measure (2 minutes). Once time is up, the teacher will measure your tower. The structure must stand on its own for at least 30 seconds to count!
6. Present Your Work. Each group shares their experience: What went well, what went wrong, and how the team collaborated throughout the process.

V. Synthesis

- How did your group decide on a plan, and was everyone involved in the decision-making?
- What did you personally contribute to help your team succeed?
- What challenges did your team face, and how did you overcome them together?
- If you could do this again, what would you do differently to improve team collaboration?
- What interpersonal skill (e.g., listening, flexibility, encouragement) was most important in this activity—and why?

I. Activity No. 2: Role Play – "A Day in School"

II. Objective(s):

- Demonstrate collaboration and interpersonal effectiveness in a group role-play scenario.
- Identify and perform assigned roles within a group setting to achieve a shared goal.
- Reflect on the interpersonal skills used in accomplishing the task and managing challenges in a group situation.

III. Materials Needed

Paper and pen for scriptwriting Props (optional, for enhancing the performance)
 Timer or stopwatch Rubric or checklist for observation and feedback
 Reflection worksheet

IV. Instructions:

- Form a Group. Ensure that each member has a role in both planning and performing the role play.
- Select a Scenario: Choose a school-based group activity scenario that highlights collaboration and interpersonal effectiveness. Example scenarios include:
 - Planning a class event (e.g., a mini fair or educational campaign)
 - Resolving a misunderstanding in a group project
 - Distributing tasks during a clean-up drive or classroom duty
 - Welcoming a new student into a group
- Assign Roles: Each member must take on a specific role (e.g., group leader, team member, facilitator, mediator). Roles should reflect typical interpersonal situations encountered in school group settings.
- Plan the Script: As a group, create a short script or outline of your role play. Ensure that your performance clearly shows effective communication, cooperation, and problem-solving.
- Rehearse: Practice your role play to ensure clarity, timing, and smooth transitions between speakers.
- Perform: Present your role play in front of the class. Each group will be given 3–5 minutes for the performance.

V. Synthesis

- What teamwork skill did your group demonstrate best?
- How did your group handle challenges or disagreements?
- What lesson about interpersonal effectiveness did your role play communicate?

ROLE PLAY RUBRIC: Observation and Feedback

Criteria	4 - Excellent	3 - Proficient	2 - Developing	1 - Needs Improvement
Collaboration & Teamwork	Seamless cooperation; clearly worked as a team with shared responsibility.	Mostly cooperative with some signs of shared responsibility.	Some collaboration evident; roles were unevenly distributed.	Minimal teamwork; roles unclear or not followed.
Fulfillment of Assigned Roles	All group members consistently fulfilled assigned roles effectively.	Most group members fulfilled their roles adequately.	Some members did not fully perform their assigned roles.	Assigned roles were unclear or not fulfilled.

Criteria	4 - Excellent	3 - Proficient	2 - Developing	1 - Needs Improvement
Communication Skills	Clear, respectful, and effective communication throughout.	Generally clear and respectful communication.	Communication was at times unclear or lacked clarity.	Poor communication; unclear or disrespectful interactions.
Problem-Solving & Conflict Resolution	Demonstrated strong strategies for resolving group challenges constructively.	Demonstrated basic strategies for managing group issues.	Limited demonstration of problem-solving or conflict resolution.	No visible strategies for handling issues or conflicts.
Relevance to Scenario	The role play clearly and effectively reflected a real-world school scenario.	Mostly aligned with the selected scenario and objectives.	The scenario partially reflected real-world group dynamics.	The scenario lacked realism or relevance to school-based group interaction.
Creativity & Engagement	Highly engaging and creative presentation; kept audience interest.	Some creativity and effort shown; mostly engaging.	Limited creativity; somewhat engaging.	Lacked creativity or audience engagement.
Time Management	Within time limit (3–5 minutes); well-paced and complete.	Slightly over/under time but still well-paced.	Significantly over or under time; uneven pacing.	Poor timing; rushed or unfinished.

I. Activity No. 3: Concept Mapping on “Interpersonal Effectiveness through Social Interaction in Group Activities.”

II. Objective(s):

- Identify and define key concepts related to interpersonal effectiveness.
- Analyze the relationship between interpersonal skills and effective group interaction.
- Organize and express their understanding through a collaborative concept map.

III. Materials Needed

- Paper or pre-drawn concept map template
- Pens or markers (colored if available)
- Notes and handouts from previous lessons
- Optional: Digital tools for groups who prefer to do this online

IV. Instructions:

- Form a group of 4–5 members. Assign roles such as discussion leader, note-taker, illustrator/designer, and presenter.
- Discuss the central concept: “Interpersonal Effectiveness through Social Interaction in Group Activities.” Start by brainstorming the core ideas involved—these may include skills like communication, cooperation, responsibility, respect, empathy, and fulfilling roles in a team.
- Create your concept map:
 - Place the main idea in the center of your paper or digital document.
 - Create branches for each key interpersonal skill discussed.
 - Add sub-branches with definitions, real-life examples, and how each skill helps in group settings.
 - Use arrows, colors, or symbols to make connections clear and engaging.
- Share your experiences: As you map your ideas, contribute examples from past group work, class activities, or personal experiences that demonstrate these skills in action.
- Review your map together: Make sure it clearly shows how the skills are connected and why they are important for effective teamwork.
- Summarize your insights: In your notebooks, individually write a short summary including:
 - What is interpersonal effectiveness?
 - What are the most important skills discussed?
 - Why are these skills essential in group activities?
- Present your concept map to the class and explain its key components.

V. Synthesis

- Which interpersonal skill do you personally find most helpful when working in a group, and why?
- How did working with your group help deepen your understanding of interpersonal effectiveness?
- In what ways can this concept map guide you to be a more effective team member in future activities?

Group Rubric: Concept Mapping Activity

Criteria	4 - Excellent	3 - Proficient	2 - Developing	1 – Beginning
Content Accuracy & Completeness	All key concepts are clearly identified and thoroughly explained with relevant examples.	Most key concepts are included and explained with appropriate examples.	Some key concepts are missing or partially explained.	Major concepts are missing or inaccurately presented.
Organization & Structure	The map is well-organized with clear connections and logical flow of ideas.	Ideas are mostly well-organized, and connections are mostly clear.	Organization is inconsistent; some links between ideas are unclear.	Map lacks clear organization; connections are confusing or missing.
Creativity & Visual Presentation	Visually engaging and creative use of colors, symbols, and layout enhances understanding.	Some creativity and use of design elements to support understanding.	Limited use of visual tools; presentation is basic but understandable.	Lacks creativity or clarity; visual presentation hinders understanding.
Group Collaboration	All group members participated actively and contributed meaningfully to the final output.	Most members contributed and showed teamwork throughout the task.	Uneven participation; a few members did most of the work.	Minimal collaboration; most work was done by one or two members.
Application of Real-Life Examples	Multiple relevant and insightful examples are integrated into the concept map.	Some relevant examples are included to support understanding.	Few or vague examples are present with limited relevance.	No real-life examples included or unrelated to the topic.

I. Activity No. 4: Structured Input Worksheet on “Interpersonal Effectiveness through Social Interaction in Group Activities.”

II. Objective(s):

- Identify key interpersonal skills used in collaborative group settings.
- Provide real-life examples of these skills applied during group work.
- Explain how interpersonal effectiveness leads to positive group outcomes.
- Reflect on their own interpersonal strengths and areas for growth.

III. Materials Needed

- Printed worksheet or blank paper
- Pen or pencil
- Class notes or previous group activity outputs
- Optional: Access to digital tools (Google Docs or Word) for online submission

IV. Instructions:

- Examine the Worksheet Structure:
Your worksheet consists of three columns:
 - Interpersonal Skill (e.g., Active Listening, Cooperation, Responsibility)
 - Example of Group Activity (e.g., planning a class program, cleaning the classroom, group reporting)
 - Effect on Group Outcome (e.g., improved participation, conflict resolution, task completion)
- List Key Interpersonal Skills:
Think about the recent group activities you've participated in. Write at least three interpersonal skills that were used during those tasks.
- Give Real-Life Examples:
For each interpersonal skill, describe a realistic example of how it was applied in a school-based group activity. Be specific and use actual or relatable scenarios.
- Describe the Positive Outcome:
Explain how using that skill helped your group succeed. What changed because that skill was applied? Consider group performance, participation, or atmosphere.
- Reflect on Your Learning:
Review your answers. Which of these skills do you already use confidently? Which ones would you like to improve? You may be asked to share one insight with the class or submit your worksheet for teacher feedback.

V. Synthesis

- Which interpersonal skill do you feel most confident using in group activities, and why?
- How do you think your behavior impacts the way your group functions and performs?
- What is one interpersonal skill you want to improve, and what will you do to develop it?

Rubric for Structured Input Worksheet

Criteria	4 - Excellent	3 - Proficient	2 - Developing	1 – Beginning
Accuracy of Interpersonal Skills Identified	Clearly identifies 5 or more appropriate and relevant interpersonal skills.	Identifies 4 relevant interpersonal skills with minor gaps.	Identifies 2–3 relevant interpersonal skills, some may be unclear or off-topic.	Identifies fewer than 2 skills or most are unclear or inappropriate.
Quality of Examples	Examples are realistic, detailed, and directly connected to school group tasks.	Examples are relevant and mostly clear; some details may be general.	Examples are vague or minimally developed; connection to group tasks is weak.	Examples are unclear, not connected to interpersonal skills or missing.
Explanation of Effect/Outcome	Thoughtfully explains how the skill impacted group success with insight.	Provides a clear explanation of group outcomes with minor depth.	Brief explanation with limited connection between skill and outcome.	Lacks explanation or does not link the skill to a group outcome.
Organization & Clarity	The worksheet is neatly organized, and ideas are clearly expressed.	Mostly organized with understandable language.	Organization is inconsistent; some entries are hard to follow.	Worksheet is messy or difficult to understand.
Personal Reflection	Reflects deeply on personal strengths and areas to improve; shows self-awareness.	Reflection is present and thoughtful, though not very deep.	Minimal reflection; lacks specific insight into own behavior or growth.	No personal reflection or vague statements without thought.

I. Activity No. 5: Small Group Challenge – Team Puzzle (School Club Schedule Mix-Up)

II. Objective(s):

- Apply teamwork and interpersonal communication in solving a real-life scenario.
- Recognize the importance of roles, collaboration, and respectful dialogue in group work.
- Reflect on how interpersonal skills helped your group complete a task and what could be improved for future teamwork.

III. Materials Needed

- Printed puzzle handout: “School Club Schedule Mix-Up”
- Pen/pencil
- Scratch paper for brainstorming
- Timer or stopwatch
- Reflection sheet (optional)

IV. Instructions:

- Form Your Team and Assign Roles: In your group of 4–5 members, assign the following roles:
 Leader – keeps everyone focused and involved
 Timekeeper – manages the time and reminds the group to stay on track
 Recorder – writes down group decisions and key points
 Checker – double-checks the group’s answers and logic
 Presenter – shares your final answer and teamwork experience with the class
- Understand the Puzzle Challenge: You will be given a logic problem about a school club schedule that got mixed up. Read the instructions and clues carefully. If you’re unsure about anything, ask your group members or the teacher for help. Make sure everyone understands the task.
- Work Together to Solve the Puzzle: Use your group roles and communicate clearly. Be respectful, ask questions, and explain your thinking. Your goal is not only to solve the puzzle but to work as a team—support each other, manage time well, and stay focused.
- Reflect on Your Group Process:
 After the puzzle is completed, take a few minutes to talk with your team:
 What helped your group work well together?
 Did you face any disagreements or confusion? How did you solve them?
 How did each role contribute to the group’s success?
- Present Your Solution and Experience: Your Presenter will share the group’s final answer and describe how the team worked together. Be sure to mention the interpersonal skills you used (like listening, cooperation, patience, or problem-solving).

V. Synthesis

- Which interpersonal skill do you feel most confident using in group activities, and why?
- How do you think your behavior impacts the way your group functions and performs?
- What is one interpersonal skill you want to improve, and what will you do to develop it?
