III. Materials Needed:

Pen and paper

Props for the presentation; if necessary.

IV. Instructions:

The class will be divided into 5 groups. Each group should have one (1) leader and one (1) secretary. Learners are asked to portray an ideal company and be able to showcase the rights of employees based on their understanding of the lesson. Each group will be given 5 minutes for brainstorming and 3 minutes to present.

Be guided with this rubric:

Time Limit: 3 minutes

Criteria	Excellent (4 pts)	Proficient (3 pts)	Developing (2 pts)	Beginning (1 pt)
Content Accuracy (Knowledge of Employee Rights)	Shows accurate and complete understanding of employee rights; all points are correct and well-explained.	Mostly accurate; minor errors but shows clear understanding of employee rights.	Some correct information, but with noticeable errors or missing key points.	Information mostly inaccurate or lacks understanding of employee rights.
Creativity & Presentation (Role-play delivery)	Role-play is original, engaging, and realistic; captures audience attention while clearly portraying workplace rights.	Presentation is clear and somewhat creative; role-play reflects employee rights with minor gaps.	Shows little creativity; role-play is partly confusing or less engaging; rights are only partly shown.	Very little creativity; unclear or disorganized; rights not clearly presented.

Teamwork & Participation	All members actively participate with balanced contributions; smooth coordination.	Most members participate; good coordination with minor imbalances.	Unequal participation; some members dominate while others have little involvement.	Very minimal participation; poor coordination and teamwork.
Time Management	The presentation stays within 3 minutes and delivers a complete message.	Slightly over/under 3 minutes but the message is still clear.	Noticeably over/under time; parts of the message missing.	Did not follow the time limit; incomplete presentation.
Clarity & Communication	Lines are spoken clearly with confidence, proper volume, and expression; the audience easily understands.	Generally clear and understandable ; some lapses in confidence or delivery.	Sometimes unclear; the audience has difficulty understanding parts of the role-play.	Very unclear; mumbling, monotone, or poor delivery prevents understanding .
