- I. Activity (Option 1): GUESS THE PICTURE (Think-Pair-Share)
- II. Objective(s): At the end of the activity, learners will be able to observe and describe workplace conditions, collaborate with peers to exchange ideas, and relate their observations in supporting workers' success and well-being.
- III. Materials Needed: pen and paper
- IV. Instructions: Look at the pictures of different workplaces, think about what you notice, discuss your ideas with a partner, and then be ready to share with the class.

Source: <https://www.canva.com/dream-lab?query=provide+a+picture+of+workplace+conditions+showing+collaboration+with+peers+to+exchange+ideas%2C+supporting+workers%E2%80%99+success+and+well-being>

Choose your partner. Answer the following:

Think: Take a quiet moment to reflect on your own. Ask yourself:

What do you notice about these workplaces?

Pair: Turn to your classmates nearby and share your ideas. Listen carefully to what they say.

Share: After a few minutes, we'll regroup as a class. Some volunteers will share the activities you and your partner discussed.

V. Synthesis:

1. How do you think these conditions affect the workers' success?

2. Would you want to work in these offices? Why?

I. Activity (Option 2): REAL-LIFE STORY REFLECTION

II. Objective(s): At the end of the activity, learners will be able to reflect on real workplace situations, identify factors that make a workplace safe, fair, and productive, and explain how workplace considerations affect both employees' well-being and career success.

III. Materials Needed: pen and paper

IV. Instructions: Based on what you know or have observed in real workplaces, suggest what makes a workplace safe, fair, and productive, and we will group your answers together on the board.

Story:

Maria was very excited when she got her first job in a small printing shop. At first, she worked hard and enjoyed learning new skills. However, she noticed that her employer did not provide safety equipment when using the heavy printing machines. One day, her co-worker had a minor accident because of the lack of proper protective gloves. This made Maria realize how important workplace safety rules are—not only for the company's success but also for the workers' health and future careers.

V. Synthesis:

1. What can we learn from this situation?

2. How can workplace considerations make or break one's career?

I. Activity (Option 1): CASE STUDY SNAPSHOTS

- II. Objective(s): At the end of the activity, learners will be able to analyze workplace scenarios, identify the roles and responsibilities of employers and employees, and explain how clear expectations, technology, and fair discipline contribute to a positive and productive work environment.

III. Materials Needed: paper and pen

- IV. Instructions: Learners read the scenarios below and answer the processing questions.

Scenario 1: Anna started working in a clothing shop, but her manager did not explain her specific duties. Sometimes she was asked to clean, other times to arrange stocks, and later to handle customers. She felt confused and made mistakes.

- What role of the employer was missing in this scenario?

- How could clear job expectations affect Anna's success at work?

Scenario 2: A printing business owner decided to adopt workflow automation software. Instead of manually recording each client order, employees used the system to track deadlines and payments. Work became faster, errors decreased, and customers were more satisfied.

- How did technology improve the productivity of the workplace?

- If you were an employee in this business, how would this system make your job easier?

Scenario 3: Mark, an employee in a delivery company, was always late. Instead of firing him immediately, his supervisor first talked to him, explained the problem, and gave him a chance to improve by adjusting his schedule. Mark improved and became more reliable.

- What did the supervisor do to ensure discipline was fair?

- How can fair discipline benefit both the company and the worker?

V. Synthesis:

1. Looking at the three scenarios, how do clear job expectations, use of technology, and fair discipline contribute to creating a positive and productive workplace?

2. What lessons can employees and employers learn from these scenarios about their shared responsibilities in achieving workplace success?

3. If you were to experience a similar situation in your future workplace, how would you apply the insights from these scenarios to handle challenges effectively?

I. Activity (Option 2): DATA TO STORY

II. Objective(s): At the end of the activity, learners will be able to interpret workplace data, draw meaningful conclusions from changes in performance indicators, and explain how improved workplace practices contribute to the success of both the business and its employees.

III. Materials Needed: pen and paper

IV. Instructions: Analyze the table below and answer the questions.

SMALL CAFÉ

Workplace Indicator	Before	After
Average Number of Customers per Day	30	50
Employee Absences per Month	6	2
Customer Satisfaction Score	60%	90%

V. Synthesis

1. What changes do you think the café owner made that helped increase the number of customers and reduce employee absences?

2. How does this example show that improving workplace practices can lead to better success for both the business and its employees?

I. Activity (Option 2): CONCEPT MAPPING

II. Objective(s): At the end of the activity, learners will be able to organize ideas in a concept map by identifying the four employer responsibilities and providing examples of how each contributes to employee growth, workplace safety, and overall career success.

III. Materials Needed: pen and paper

IV. Instructions: Create a simple concept map showing the four employer responsibilities and examples of how each contributes to career success.

Draw your concept map here.

V. Synthesis:

1. Which employer responsibility do you think is the most important for employee's success? Why?

2. How are these four responsibilities connected to each other in creating a safe and productive workplace?

I. Activity (Option 1): JOB MATCH CHALLENGE

II. Objective(s): At the end of the activity, learners will be able to match various job roles with appropriate employer responsibilities, explain why these responsibilities are essential, and demonstrate understanding of how clear expectations contribute to employee success and workplace productivity.

III. Materials Needed: pen and paper

IV. Instructions: Match each job description with at least two employer responsibilities that are most essential to setting clear job expectations for that role. Write a short explanation (2–3 sentences) on why those responsibilities are important for that specific job. Share your answers with a partner or small group.

Job Descriptions:

1. Teacher – Facilitates learning, prepares lessons, assesses students, and maintains classroom discipline.
2. Cashier – Handles money transactions, operates the cash register, and assists customers at checkout.
3. Nurse – Provides patient care, administers medicines, monitors health conditions, and assists doctors.
4. Construction Worker – Performs manual labor on building projects, follows safety protocols, and uses equipment/tools.
5. IT Specialist – Manages computer systems, troubleshoots technical issues, ensures cybersecurity, and supports staff.

Employer Responsibilities:

- a. Define Major Job Duties Clearly – Provide a detailed job description outlining essential and secondary tasks.
- b. Communicate Expectations Effectively – Share goals, performance standards, and rules consistently (orientation, handbook, meetings).
- c. Provide Support, Resources, and Feedback – Give training, tools, and materials needed; offer regular feedback and recognition.
- d. Build Role Clarity and Accountability – Ensure roles don't overlap, assign reporting lines, and hold employees accountable for tasks.
- e. Implement Fair Discipline – Apply clear, fair, and proportional penalties when rules are violated.
- f. Observe Occupational Health & Safety (OHS) – Provide a safe workplace, safety equipment, health checks, and awareness training.

Employer Responsibilities:

- Explanation: Construction work is dangerous and involves different tasks like carrying materials, operating equipment, and following building plans. Employers must give clear job duties and prioritize safety measures to prevent accidents.*

I. Activity (Option 1): THE MISSING JOB DESCRIPTION

- II. Objective(s): At the end of the activity, learners will be able to analyze workplace case studies, identify neglected employer responsibilities, and propose practical solutions that promote role clarity, effective communication, and workplace productivity.
- III. Materials Needed: pen and paper
- IV. Instructions: Learners will be given a short case study. In pairs or small groups, learners will analyze the situation. Groups will present their findings and propose 2 solutions the employer should implement to fix the problem.

Scenario 1: The Confused New Hire

Anna was recently hired as an office assistant. On her first day, she was told to answer phone calls. The next day, she was asked to prepare financial reports even though she has no accounting background. Later in the week, her supervisor instructed her to deliver packages outside the office. Anna feels confused, overworked, and unsure what her real job is supposed to be.

Key Neglected Responsibilities: Defining major job duties clearly; providing realistic job preview.

Findings:

Solution/s:

Scenario 2: The Silent Boss

Mark works as a sales staff in a retail store. His manager only told him, "Make sure to sell a lot." No daily sales targets, performance standards, or feedback were provided. Mark tries his best but doesn't know if he is meeting expectations. At the end of the month, he was told he failed to meet his quota—but he was never told what the quota was.

Key Neglected Responsibilities: Communicating expectations effectively; providing regular feedback.

Findings:

Solution/s:

Scenario 3: Tools Not Provided

Jessa was hired as a graphic designer in a small company. She was told to create high-quality digital ads but was given an old, slow computer with outdated software. When she requested proper tools, her employer said, "Just make do with what you have." Her output suffered, and the employer blamed her for "low productivity."

Key Neglected Responsibilities: Providing support, resources, and feedback.

Findings:

Solution/s:

V. Synthesis:

1. Why is it important for employers to define major job duties clearly from the start?

2. How does the lack of role clarity and communication affect both the employer and the employee?

I. Activity (Option 2): CAREER CONNECTION REFLECTION

II. Objective(s): At the end of the activity, learners will be able to reflect on the importance of employer responsibilities—expectations, productivity, discipline, and safety—by explaining how these factors can influence their future career choices and success, supported with concrete examples.

III. Materials Needed: pen and paper

IV. Instructions: Write a one-page reflection on how these employer responsibilities (expectations, productivity, discipline, and safety) could affect your future career choice and success. Give at least one concrete example.

This image shows a full page of blank, lined paper. It features approximately 20 evenly spaced horizontal grey lines running across the width of the page, providing a guide for handwriting or typing. The background is a solid off-white color.

Rubrics:

Criteria	Excellent (3 pts)	Satisfactory (2 pts)	Needs Improvement (1 pt)
Content & Relevance	Clearly explains how employer responsibilities connect to career success; gives at least one concrete, specific example.	Explains the connection, but the example is general or not fully clear.	Limited explanation; lacks a relevant example.
Dept of Reflection	Shows personal insight and thoughtful consideration of the topic.	Shows some insight, but reflection is basic or surface-level.	Little to no reflection; answers are incomplete or off-topic.
Organization & Clarity	Ideas are well-organized, clear, and easy to follow.	Ideas are somewhat organized but may be unclear in parts.	Ideas are disorganized or difficult to understand.

I. Activity (Option 1): 4-POINT SUMMARY CHART

II. Objective(s): At the end of the activity, learners will be able to summarize key insights about the four major employer responsibilities—Job Expectations, Productivity, Discipline, and Occupational Health & Safety—and integrate them into a general statement that explains their collective importance in creating a safe, fair, and productive workplace.

III. Materials Needed: pen and paper

IV. Instructions: Complete the chart by writing one key insight for each responsibility of employers (Job Expectations, Productivity, Discipline, and Occupational Health & Safety). Then, write one general statement that ties them all together.

I. Activity (Option 2): WORKPLACE WISDOM IN WORDS

II. Objective(s): At the end of the activity, learners will be able to demonstrate creativity and critical thinking by crafting a slogan that highlights the importance of employer responsibilities—job expectations, productivity, discipline, and occupational health and safety—in achieving workplace success and career growth.

III. Materials Needed: pen and paper

IV. Instructions: Create a slogan that emphasizes the importance of employer responsibilities—such as setting job expectations, ensuring productivity, implementing discipline, and observing occupational health and safety—in promoting career success. Be creative and make sure your work clearly connects these ideas.

I. Activity: ADDITIONAL ACTIVITIES

II. Objective(s): At the end of the activity, learners will be able to gather real-world insights through an interview with a local employer, manager, or supervisor, summarize how job expectations, productivity, discipline, and workplace safety are practiced, and reflect on their impact on employee success and workplace harmony.

III. Materials Needed: pen and paper

IV. Instructions: Conduct a short interview with a local employer, manager, or supervisor. Before the interview, secure a request letter addressed to the interviewee and obtain your parents' or guardian's consent to participate in the activity. During the interview, ask about how they set job expectations, ensure productivity, implement discipline, and maintain workplace safety. Summarize your findings and reflect on how these responsibilities affect employee success and workplace harmony.

This image shows a single sheet of white paper with horizontal blue ruling lines. The lines are evenly spaced and run across the width of the page. There are no margins, text, or other markings on the paper.

Rubrics:

Criteria	Excellent (3 pts)	Satisfactory (2 pts)	Needs Improvement (1 pt)
Relevance of Questions	Questions are highly relevant, addressing all four key employer responsibilities (expectations, productivity, discipline, safety).	Questions address some but not all employer responsibilities.	Questions are vague or unrelated to employer responsibilities.
Depth of Responses	Interview summary shows detailed, clear, and insightful answers from the employer.	Interview summary shows general answers but lacks depth or detail.	Interview summary is incomplete or lacks clarity.
Connection to Lesson	Reflection strongly connects employer's insights to career success and workplace considerations.	Reflection shows some connection but is vague or surface-level.	Reflection shows little or no connection to the lesson's objectives.
Presentation/Clarity	Well-organized, clear, and free of major errors; easy to understand.	Some organizations, with minor errors or unclear parts.	Disorganized, hard to follow, or poorly written.
