III. CONTENT (Sequencing Content)	A. Observing Appropriate Workplace Behavior B. Management of Workplace Resources 1. Efficiency in the workplace 2. Stewardship of workplace resources (prioritization, allocation, optimization)
IV. OBJECTIVES (Setting Clear Objectives and Analyzing the Tasks)	A. Identify the strategies and ways to be efficient in the workplace B. Understand how efficiency can affect productivity in the workplace C. Differentiate prioritization, allocation, and optimization in the work place D. Evaluate the observable behavior in the workplace towards efficiency E. Demonstrate the value of teamwork and collaboration
IV. PROCEDURES	ACTIVITIES (Instructions for learners)	ANNOTATION (Instruction for Teachers)
A. Activating Prior Knowledge	1. ACTIVATING PRIOR KNOWLEDGE Option 1: Situational analysis The teacher will present 3 scenarios in the workplace and the learners will choose 1 and suggest ways on how to make the work faster and what are the steps on how to do it.	This activity is designed to introduce learners to the key ideas they will explore in this lesson. It will help them to get ready and think about important concepts related to work efficiency and stewardship. Pedagogy: Critical Pedagogy Strategy 1: Thing-Pair-Share Present each scenario through text, visual, or video presentation. Ask the learners of the possible ways to be efficient.

	a. Hospital Pharmacy (Healthcare) Scenario: Patients line up to claim their prescriptions. The pharmacist must verify, prepare, and explain the correct medicine quickly. Possible answers for Efficiency: Prevents long queues, ensures patient safety, and maintains smooth hospital flow. b. Classroom Preparation (Education) Scenario: A teacher has only a short break to set up materials and technology before the next class. Possible answers for Efficiency: Saves time, keeps lessons on schedule, and maximizes learning time. c. Restaurant Kitchen (Food Industry) Scenario: During peak hours, the kitchen staff must prepare multiple orders simultaneously while maintaining food quality. Possible answers for Efficiency: Ensures timely service, reduces errors, and keeps customers satisfied	Teacher will ask the following questions: a. How can the pharmacist work efficiently while still ensuring every patient gets the right medicine and clear instructions? b. How would you use your creativity and preparation skills to make your class engaging even with a short break to set it up? c. Imagine being in the kitchen during rush hour—how would you use teamwork and creativity to serve delicious food quickly and efficiently? Possible response: a. 	2. Establishing the Purpose of the Lesson Discussion 1: A. Observing Appropriate Workplace Behavior B. Management of Workplace Resources 1. Efficiency in the workplace List of strategies and ways to improve efficiency in the workplace with references: 1. Take breaks to rest and reset the mind, which helps return to work with renewed energy. 2. Establish realistic and achievable goals to manage steps and measure progress, promoting motivation and time management. 3. Measure time spent on tasks to identify areas needing improvement and to use time-management skills effectively. 4. Commit to deadlines to organize work processes, increase motivation, and develop efficiency skills. 5. Concentrate on one task at a time to improve work quality and steady task completion. 6. Create and maintain a daily routine that includes work tasks and self-care, forming productive habits. 7. Design a relaxing and motivating work environment suited to individual preferences.	Pedagogy: Responsive Pedagogy Strategy: Guided discussion The teacher will start the discussion of the lesson through: a. Power point presentation b. Visual Aids c. Images d. Video presentation Processing Questions 1. Which of these strategies do you find most effective in helping you stay productive and motivated, and why? 2. How can you apply at least two of these techniques in your daily routine to improve your time management and work-life balance?

	8. Develop a healthy work-life balance by scheduling work to leave dedicated personal time. 9. Organize to-do lists to prioritize tasks and plan action steps, which increases motivation and a sense of accomplishment. 10. Minimize interruptions and distractions by creating quiet workspaces and scheduling focused work periods. 11. Seek feedback from managers and team members to gain insights for improvement and develop new efficiency strategies. 12. Create incentives and celebrate accomplishments to boost confidence and motivation.	3. What challenges you might face when trying to implement these strategies, and how can you overcome them?
B. Instituting New Knowledge	1. Presenting Examples Option 1: The following are additional workplace efficiency improvement approaches 1. Promoting teamwork and collaboration for better communication and flow of information. 2. Monitoring employees' time to increase focus and transparency. 3. Investing in employee training for skill development. 4. Accepting remote and hybrid work models for flexibility. 5. Assigning tasks based on employee skills. 6. Encouraging healthy working practices and using	The teacher will use research-based best practices aside from the discussions. May use the following links to present. Pedagogy: Problem-Based Learning Strategy: Discussion of research-driven data The teacher will present and discuss through PPT, readings, visual aids, and text. Processing questions: 1. 	2. Discussing New Concept Discussion 2 2. Stewardship of workplace resources (prioritization, allocation, optimization) Stewardship means managing something entrusted to one's care with responsibility and care, recognizing an obligation to act ethically and consider future impact. In the workplace, this includes financial, human, physical, and informational resources. Prioritization means identifying the most critical tasks, projects, or needs and focusing resources on them first. It requires evaluating urgency, importance, and impact to ensure resources are used where they create the most value. Allocation refers to the distribution of available resources to different tasks or departments based on priorities. It involves planning the best use of funds, personnel, materials, and time to fulfill objectives without waste. Optimization focuses on maximizing the efficiency and productivity of resources, adjusting workloads, and reallocating resources dynamically to avoid bottlenecks and reduce waste.	The teacher will present another topic tailored from the first discussion. Pedagogy: Ethical and Values-Based Pedagogy Strategy: Collaborative Discussion After discussing the new concept, the teacher will present a workplace scenario (see after the option 2 activity) and then explain each component such as Prioritization (the most important to do), Allocation (fair and equal distribution of resources), and Optimization (productive and efficient) Processing questions: 1. How can you show responsibility when using resources entrusted to you at work or school?

	3. Developing Mastery Option 1: Case Studies and Role Plays: Simulate scenarios requiring prioritization and resource allocation decisions to develop critical thinking and ethical stewardship. Instruction: - Form a group of 4-5 members. - Discuss and choose the best ethical solution. - Present your decision and explain why. (Refer to the scoring rubric)	2. When faced with limited time or materials, how do you decide what to prioritize first? 3. What simple actions can help you reduce waste and make better use of available resources? The teacher will facilitate the activity through guided activity towards collaborative learning. Pedagogy: Collaborative learning Strategy: Case Study Analysis The teacher will divide the class into small groups and then identify the stewardship components of each scenario given. (See the scenarios part) (A scoring rubrics is provided to be used by the teacher to objectively observe and assess the activity.) Strategy: Guided Reflection Writing, Scenario-Based Learning, Self-Assessment/Journaling

	Option 2: Reflection and Discussion (Individual activity): Promote understanding of stewardship values through discussions on ethical use, accountability, and team work in resource management. Instruction: Write a short discussion for each scenario towards ethics, accountability, and team work using prioritization, allocation, and optimization. (Refer to the scoring rubric) Scenarios: 1. Limited Equipment Goal: Ensure tasks are completed efficiently despite the lack of tools or machines. Role: You are part of a work team in a production or service area. Audience: Your supervisor and co-workers. Situation: The workplace is experiencing a shortage of working equipment — only a few machines or tools are functional. Productivity is slowing down, and customers are waiting longer. Product: A short plan or role-play showing how your team can share equipment, schedule usage, or find alternatives to complete tasks efficiently.	The teacher will discuss the activity and guide the learners while they are doing their respective writings and making sure they follow set criteria for checking their output.

	Standards: The plan should demonstrate teamwork, resourcefulness, and fair use of limited resources. 2. Staff Shortage Goal: Maintain quality service and efficiency despite having fewer workers. Role: You are an employee assigned to help manage the workload while covering for absent team members. Audience: Customers and co-workers. Situation: Several staff members are absent, leaving others to handle extra tasks. Some areas are getting behind schedule, and stress levels are rising. Product: A proposed work strategy or skit that shows how the team divides responsibilities, supports each other, and communicates effectively. Standards: The output must show teamwork, adaptability, and initiative in handling workload pressure. 3. Budget Cutting Goal: Continue operations and maintain quality while reducing costs. Role: You are a member of a planning committee tasked to propose cost-saving measures. Audience: The company's management and staff. Situation: Due to financial constraints, management has announced budget cuts affecting supplies, events, and allowances. Some employees are worried about how this will impact their work. Product: A written proposal or short presentation on realistic ways to save costs without compromising service quality.

Standards: The proposal must be practical, creative, and consider both financial limits and employee morale.

4. Disagreement Among Workers

Goal: Restore teamwork and harmony in the workplace.

Role: You are a mediator or team leader observing a conflict between two co-workers who disagree on work methods.

Audience: The team and supervisor.

Situation: Miscommunication and differing opinions have caused tension in the team. Productivity and cooperation are affected.

Product: A role-play or dialogue showing how the issue can be resolved through respectful communication and compromise.

Standards: The solution should highlight empathy, active listening, and conflict-resolution skills.

5. Conflict Between the Manager and the Staff

Goal: Improve understanding and rebuild trust between management and employees.

Role: You are part of a committee or HR staff assigned to help both sides express their concerns and find a solution.

Audience: The manager and the staff.

Situation: Employees feel unheard about workplace issues, while the manager believes they are being disrespected. Tension is rising, and communication has broken down.

Product: A mediation plan, letter, or role-play showing how

Scoring Rubrics for the activities

Criteria	Score 1 (Poor/ Confusing)	Score 3 (Developing/ Adequate)	Score 5 (Excellent/ Outstanding)
Planning and Organization Clear plan for using resources and managing tasks; structured approach to the project.	Plan is missing or illogical; tasks and resources are not clearly defined or allocated; work appears disorganized.	Plan is present and manageable, but may lack detail or fail to anticipate minor obstacles; tasks are generally understood and followed.	Plan is clear, detailed, and strategic; tasks are logically sequenced, resources are proactively assigned, and the team manages time efficiently.
Resource Use Efficient and appropriate allocation of limited resources (time, materials, budget).	Resources are wasted or disproportionately allocated; the team consistently runs out of time or materials due to poor management.	Resources are used adequately, but not always efficiently; minor wastage of time or materials occurs, but doesn't halt progress.	Resources are maximized and allocated fairly; the team demonstrates exceptional control over time, materials, and budget.
Prioritization Ability to identify important tasks and focus effort effectively; minimal distraction.	The team fails to distinguish urgent tasks from non-urgent ones; effort is spent on minor details, delaying critical milestones.	The team generally prioritizes major tasks correctly, but focus is inconsistent; some time is lost to secondary or non-essential activities.	The team consistently and accurately identifies and focuses on high-priority, critical tasks; distractions are effectively minimized.
Teamwork and Collaboration Level of cooperation, communication, and shared responsibility among team members.	Communication is poor or hostile; tasks are not shared, leading to conflict, resentment, or a single person doing most of the work.	Team members cooperate adequately and complete assigned duties; communication is functional but lacks initiative or depth.	Teamwork is seamless and proactive; communication is open and constructive; responsibility is genuinely shared, and members support each other's roles.
Presentation and Reporting Clear, organized, insightful, and engaging delivery of the final presentation/report.	The presentation/report is confusing, unorganized, or contains significant errors; key findings are difficult or impossible to identify.	The presentation/report is generally clear and accurate, but lacks deep insight or is delivered in a monotone or unengaging manner.	The presentation/report is crystal clear, logically organized, highly engaging, and provides insightful analysis beyond the expected requirements.
