LESSON EXEMPLAR

Learning Area	EFFECTIVE COMMUNICATION	Grade Level	11
Semester	2 nd	Quarter	3 rd

I. OBJECTIVES

A. Content Standard	The learners demonstrate effective communication in academic and training contexts through spoken, written, and multimodal forms ; they understand that interaction patterns in academic and training contexts are formal, structured, and discipline-specific, and that intellectual integrity, honest and respectful critique, and inclusive language foster meaningful academic and training engagement.
B. Performance Standard	The learners produce spoken, written, and multimodal academic and technical texts for specific purposes and audiences , such as, but not limited to, articles, research reports, public speaking presentations, reviews, and podcasts; prepare note cards and reference lists in support of these texts; convert these texts into presentation formats aided by non-verbal signals and multimedia tools or resources; and give and use feedback on the content, structure and language of communication to improve performance.
C. Communicative Event/s	Participating in structured classroom discussions
D. Learning Competencies	- Identify how content, structure, and language of spoken, written, and multimodal texts are shaped by audience, purpose, and context. - Use language, tone, and structure appropriately for audience, purpose, and context in discussing a variety of academic and technical topics. - Compose well-structured academic and technical texts, showing awareness of audience and purpose. - Describe processes of interpretation, engagement, and expression used for communication in academic and training contexts.

	Interpreting Meaning in Academic and Technical Texts Through Audience, Purpose, and Context
	At the end of the lesson, the learners are expected to: 1. identify how content, structure, and language of spoken, written, and multimodal texts are shaped by audience, purpose, and context; 2. apply appropriate language, tone, and structure appropriately for audience, purpose, and context in discussing a variety of academic and technical topics; 3. create well-structured academic and technical texts, showing awareness of audience and purpose; and 4. describe processes of interpretation, engagement, and expression used for communication in academic and training contexts.
	IV. PROCEDURES
	ANNOTATIONS
A. Activating Prior Knowledge	A.1. Activating Prior Knowledge Activity: Let's ponder! Directions: Ask students to share their thoughts on the following news headlines: "Missing Sabungeros" and "Trillion-Peso March." Give them time to reflect on the headlines, then encourage them to express their opinions and insights. You may access the related articles using the links and QR codes provided below:	Students begin by reflecting on the headlines "Missing Sabungeros" and "Trillion-peso March." This activity activates prior knowledge by encouraging learners to recall what they know about current events and their impact on society. Students are encouraged to share their thoughts, allowing for a collaborative discussion where different perspectives are heard and valued.

	Article 1: “Missing Sabungeros” Link: https://bit.ly/3Wxyug7 Article 2: “Trillion-Peso March” Link: https://bit.ly/3X6Wvuv A.2. Establishing the Purpose of the Lesson Processing Questions 1. Why do you think these news headlines are viral? 2. What do you think caused these events to happen? Kindly elaborate. 3. How are these events connected to people’s daily lives or to society as a whole? 4. In what ways are these events relevant to you, your community, or society? Explain your perspective. 5. If you were a journalist, how would you write a headline about these issues to make it both engaging and socially responsible?	This aligns with the IDF approach by including different perspectives, encouraging students to share what they know, promoting teamwork, connecting real-life experiences to learning, and helping them develop creativity and ideas. Guide the discussion by asking the questions, encouraging students to share their thoughts, and noting important insights on the board. Link their responses to the lesson’s goal of writing reflections, critiques, and position papers. This aligns with the IDF approach by valuing everyone’s perspective, showing meaningful conversation, encouraging creative and critical thinking, and connecting real-life experiences to academic and professional writing.
B. Instituting New Knowledge	B.1. Presenting Examples Activity #1: Read, Understand, Interpret Messages Directions: Ask students to read and interpret the poem “The Most Beautiful Scene Felt by the Heart” by Helen Keller. Guide them in identifying the poem’s content, structure, and the type of language used in the text. I have seen the dawn without my eyes, Yet light has touched my soul. I have heard no song of morning skies, Yet music makes me whole. The wind that moves through unseen trees Whispers love I understand; The flowers bloom in melodies That only hearts can command. For beauty is not what we see, Nor music what we hear —	The teacher presents quotes from Filipino celebrities—Catriona Gray—highlighting issues of corruption, accountability, and civic responsibility. Students are instructed to read and reflect on the poem and news article, identifying the situations that prompted these messages and the common purpose behind them. Through guided discussion, the teacher encourages learners to analyze both the content and intent of the statements, fostering critical thinking, collaboration, and real-life connections. This activity aligns with the IDF-SHS curriculum by promoting inclusivity, reflective dialogue, and the integration of societal awareness with academic learning.

	It lives within the soul set free, Where truth is bright and clear. The most beautiful scene the heart can find Is love that knows no part; It glows in silence, pure and kind — The vision felt by heart. B. Directions: Read the news articles below from The Daily Tribune featuring Catriona Gray’s spoken message. Ask the students to interpret the meaning and significance of her message. Miss Universe 2018 Catriona Gray joined the growing chorus demanding accountability and transparency from Philippine leaders, penning a message on Facebook as Trillion Peso March rallies continue. “Pilipinas. Nafefeel nyo ba? We wear no colours — we stand together united for our nation,” Catriona wrote, underscoring unity beyond political divides. She emphasized that law-abiding, tax-paying Filipinos “deserve to know (and see) that our taxes are going towards the betterment of our nation.” The beauty queen-turned-advocate also warned against performative governance. “We will not be satisfied with theatrics, or empty promises. Tama na acting!! All of our eyes are on our leaders... We demand accountability! We call on our leaders to CLEAN UP THE CORRUPT!” Her message, captured in a photo by fiancé Khalil Ramos, echoed the sentiments of many Filipinos who have taken to the streets calling for good governance, justice, and systemic reform. “The ball is in your court... Change takes time. But the time to change is NOW,” she concluded, amplifying the urgency of the public’s demand for reform. Source: https://tribune.net.ph/2025/09/22/filipinos-deserve-transparency-catriona-gray?utm_source=chatgpt.com	The teacher explains that meaning in communication—spoken, written, or multimodal—is shaped by audience, purpose, and context, which influence the content, structure, and language of a text. Students learn to adjust tone, language, and organization according to the situation to ensure clarity and effectiveness. They are guided to compose well-structured academic and technical texts with appropriate detail, format, and level of formality. The lesson also emphasizes interpretation, engagement, and expression, encouraging learners to analyze, respond to, and communicate ideas effectively. Through discussion and practice, students connect classroom concepts to real-life situations. This approach promotes critical thinking, collaboration, and practical application, fully aligned with the IDF-SHS curriculum.

Discussing New Concepts

In communication, whether spoken, written, or multimodal, meaning is not created in isolation. It is shaped by three important factors: audience, purpose, and context.

1. Content, Structure, and Language of Texts

- The content (what the text is about), the structure (how it is organized), and the language (words, tone, and style) are always influenced by the audience, purpose, and context.
- Example: A research report uses formal structure and technical vocabulary because its audience is academic, its purpose is to inform, and its context is scholarly. In contrast, a Facebook post about the same topic may use simpler words, hashtags, and visuals because its audience is the general public.

2. Using Language, Tone, and Structure Appropriately

- When we communicate, we must adjust our language, tone, and structure to match the situation.
- Example: Talking to a teacher in class requires polite and formal tone, while talking to friends in a chat group allows casual and informal language.
- In academic and technical texts, inappropriate tone or structure may cause misinterpretation of the message.

3. Composing Academic and Technical Texts

- A well-structured text should have a clear introduction, body, and conclusion.
- Awareness of the audience and purpose guides the writer in choosing the right format, level of formality, and amount of detail.
- Example: Writing a technical manual requires step-by-step instructions because the purpose is to guide, and the audience needs clarity.

4. Processes of Interpretation, Engagement, and Expression

- Interpretation: Understanding the meaning of a text by analyzing its audience, purpose, and context.

- Engagement: Actively responding to or interacting with the text (e.g., discussing, questioning, or connecting it to real-life situations).
- Expression: Communicating one's own ideas effectively through appropriate academic or technical forms (e.g., reports, speeches, or presentations).

A multimodal text is a kind of text that uses two or more modes of communication—such as words, pictures, sounds, gestures, and layout—to create and share meaning (Anstey & Bull, 2010).

In a deeper sense, multimodal texts reflect how people communicate in the 21st century. They allow meaning to be expressed through a combination of modes, helping readers and viewers understand ideas not only through language but also through emotion, image, and design (Kress & van Leeuwen, 2006).

They are common in newspapers, advertisements, films, social media, and digital learning materials—showing how modern communication goes beyond plain text.

Developing Mastery

Activity #2: Analyzing the Message in a Song

Directions: Students will be given a copy of the song “Heal the World.” They will carefully read and analyze the lyrics (see Appendix 1), focusing on its content, purpose, and context. Afterward, they will share their insights and reflections with the class.

Heal the World by Michael Jackson
YouTube Link: <https://bit.ly/47s3qTO>

Teacher's Note: To help students gain a deeper appreciation of the song's message and context, the teacher may play the music video of “Heal the World” on YouTube. After listening, guide the students in reflecting on the lyrics and their meaning.

	The teacher will ask the following questions: 1. Which part of the lyrics do you find most powerful or relevant? Explain why. 2. What specific lines in the song best reflect its purpose? Why do you think so? 3. How does the song's message connect to real-life social issues today? 4. If you were to change or add a line to the song to make its message stronger for today's generation, what would it be? Why?
C. Demonstrating Knowledge and Skills	C.1. Finding Practical Application Activity #3: Let's Collaborate Directions: Each group will present the message of the song "Heal the World" by interpreting its meaning through one of the following creative forms, while taking into account the intended audience and purpose of their work. a. Slogan. It is a short and powerful phrase that captures the song's call for peace and compassion. b. Poem. It is a creative piece that expresses the values and message of the song in poetic form. c. Narration. It is a short story that reflects the themes of unity and healing. d. Spoken Poetry/Language Performance. It is a dramatic reading that highlights the emotional impact of the lyrics. e. Advocacy Campaign. It is a persuasive presentation or plan that shows how the song's message can inspire real-life action. Teacher's Note: All groups will be guided by the rubric provided (see Appendix 1), which will be used to assess their output in terms of relevance, creativity, organization, delivery, and collaboration.	The teacher guides students to explore the message of the song "Heal the World" by having them work in groups to create slogans, poems, narratives, spoken poetry, or advocacy campaigns, making sure they consider their audience and purpose. Each group is assessed using a rubric that looks at relevance, creativity, organization, delivery, and teamwork. The teacher then leads a discussion on how knowing the audience, purpose, and context helps students better understand the meaning of a text, encouraging them to think about who the message is for, what it aims to do, and the situation surrounding it. Students also take a short quiz on audience awareness, appropriate language, and text purpose to check their understanding. Through these activities, the teacher encourages critical thinking, creativity, and collaboration, helping learners see how what they study connects to real life. This approach supports the IDF-SHS curriculum by making learning inclusive, meaningful, and practical.

	C.2. Making Generalization Question: How can you gain a deeper understanding of the text's meaning, considering the audience, purpose, and context? When analyzing a text, considering the audience, purpose, and context is crucial. Here are some questions to guide your analysis: Audience: Who is the intended audience? - What are their needs, interests, and level of understanding? - How does the text cater to the audience's needs? Purpose: What is the main purpose of the text? - Is it to inform, persuade, entertain, or educate? - How does the text achieve its purpose? Context: What is the historical, cultural, or social context of the text? - How does the context influence the text's meaning and interpretation? Are there any specific events, issues, or themes relevant to the context? By considering these factors, you can gain a deeper understanding of the text's meaning, tone, and effectiveness.
V. ASSESSMENT	Option 1. Pen-and-Paper Test Directions: In your notebook, read the following questions carefully and choose a letter that corresponds to your answer. 1. What is the primary purpose of a product advertisement? A. To inform readers about a topic B. To persuade readers to buy a product C. To entertain readers with a story D. To educate readers on a new skill

2. What type of language would be most suitable for an academic audience?
- A. Informal and conversational
 - B. Formal and technical
 - C. Humorous and sarcastic
 - D. Emotional and persuasive
3. Why is it important to consider the audience when analyzing a text?
- A. To understand the author's purpose
 - B. To identify the text's tone
 - C. To determine the text's effectiveness
 - D. All of the above
4. What type of text would be most likely to have a formal tone?
- A. A blog post
 - B. A social media post
 - C. An academic paper
 - D. A personal letter
5. What is the primary purpose of a text that discusses the impact of climate change on the environment?
- A. To persuade readers to take action
 - B. To inform readers about the issue
 - C. To educate readers on the science behind climate change
 - D. To entertain readers with a story

Teacher's Note: The answers to the Pen-and-Paper Test are indicated in bold.

Option 2. Let the pen speak!

Directions: Students will analyze and interpret two selected speeches: President Ferdinand “Bongbong” Marcos Jr.’s message (see Appendix 3) and António Guterres’ Message for the International Day of Peace (see Appendix 4). They will write their analysis on a sheet of yellow paper. Their work will be evaluated based on the provided rubric (see Appendix 5).

VI. REFLECTION	Directions: Reflect on your lesson delivery and learners' performance through the following questions. These will help you evaluate the effectiveness of your strategies and identify areas for improvement: 1. How many learners achieved 80% on the assessment? 2. How many learners need remediation? 3. Which of my teaching strategies worked well? 4. What difficulties did I encounter in the delivery of the lesson? 5. How did I resolve these concerns?
VII. USE OF GENERATIVE AI	In preparing this Lesson Exemplar (LE), the writer used ChatGPT to make the writing process more efficient and to help ensure accuracy, clarity, and proper citation. The writer reviewed and finalized the writing of the content. The writer takes full responsibility for the content of the LE.

Appendix 1: "Heal The World Lyrics"

Think about—um—the generations and they say we wanna make it a better place for our children, and our children's children, so that they they they know it's a better world for them, and think if they can make it a better place

There's a place in your heart
And I know that it is love
And this place could be much brighter than tomorrow

And if you really try
You'll find there's no need to cry
In this place you'll feel there's no hurt or sorrow

There are ways to get there
If you care enough for the living
Make a little space
Make a better place

Heal the world
Make it a better place
For you and for me
And the entire human race
There are people dying
If you care enough for the living
Make a better place
For you and for me

If you want to know why
There's a love that cannot lie
Love is strong
It only cares for joyful giving

If we try we shall see
In this bliss we cannot feel
Fear or dread
We stop existing and start living

Then it feels that always
Love's enough for us growing
Make a better world
To make a better world

Heal the world
Make it a better place
For you and for me
And the entire human race
There are people dying
If you care enough for the living
Make a better place
For you and for me

And the dream we were conceived in
Will reveal a joyful face
And the world we once believed in
Will shine again in grace

Then why do we keep strangling life
Wound this Earth, crucify its soul?
Though it's plain to see
This world is heavenly
Be God's glow

We could fly so high
Let our spirits never die
In my heart I feel you are all my brothers

Create a world with no fear
Together we'll cry happy tears
See the nations turn their swords into plowshares

We could really get there
If you cared enough for the living
Make a little space

To make a better place

Heal the world
Make it a better place
For you and for me
And the entire human race
There are people dying
If you care enough for the living
Make a better place
For you and for me

Heal the world
Make it a better place
For you and for me
And the entire human race
There are people dying
If you care enough for the living
Make a better place
For you and for me

Heal the world (Heal the world)
Make it a better place
For you and for me
And the entire human race
There are people dying
If you care enough for the living
Make a better place
For you and for me

There are people dying
If you care enough for the living
Make a better place
For you and for me

There are people dying
If you care enough for the living
Make a better place
For you and for me

You and for me

Make a better place (You and for me)
Make a better place (You and for me)
Make a better place (You and for me)
(You and for me)

Heal the world we live in (You and for me)
Save it for our children (You and for me)
Heal the world we live in (You and for me)
Save it for our children (You and for me)
Heal the world we live in (You and for me)
Save it for our children (You and for me)
Heal the world we live in (You and for me)
Save it for our children

Criteria	Excellent (4)	Proficient (3)	Developing (2)	Beginning (1)
Relevance to the Song's Message	Clearly conveys the core message of the song; highly meaningful and inspiring	Conveys the message of the song with minor gaps	Some parts show the song's message but not fully clear	Message is unclear or not connected to the song
Audience and Purpose Awareness	Form is highly appropriate for the chosen audience and purpose	Form is generally appropriate for the audience and purpose	Some attempt to match audience and purpose but inconsistent	Audience and purpose are not considered
Creativity and Originality	Output is very creative, unique, and engaging	Output shows creativity and some originality	Output shows limited creativity; relies on common ideas	Output lacks creativity and originality
Organization and Delivery	Presentation is well-structured, smooth, and engaging	Presentation is organized but with minor lapses	Presentation is somewhat organized but lacks flow	Presentation is unorganized and difficult to follow
Collaboration and Participation	All members actively participated and contributed equally	Most members participated actively	Some members participated; others less involved	Minimal participation; work done by few members

Appendix 3: Copy of Article 1 (“PBBM: Education Will Be the Gauge of My Admin’s Success.”)

“PBBM: Education Will Be the Gauge of My Admin’s Success.”

President Ferdinand R. Marcos Jr. placed education as the top priority in the second half of his administration to guarantee the future of Filipino workers.

In the latest episode of the BBM Podcast that aired on Friday, President Marcos was asked for his choice if he wanted to see just one project through before his term ends.

“Education for me will be the gauge of success of this administration,” the President said.

The President reiterated his commitment during his fourth State of the Nation Address (SONA) to see to it that every Filipino family should have at least one member who graduated from college or from technical-vocational school.

“Pag nagawa natin ito, successful ‘yun,” President Marcos said, adding that government programs to improve conditions in the country would be wasted if Filipinos do not receive quality education and training.

“Pag hindi maganda ang training, hindi maganda ang edukasyon ng mga Pilipino, hindi naman sila makakapag-compete in the labor market,” the Chief Executive said.

“Walang advantage lahat ‘nung ating ginawa. Kaya ang puno’t dulo talaga nila education. Our greatest resource is our people. Our greatest resource is the human capital of the Philippines,” the President emphasized.

The President acknowledged the strong preference among foreign employers for hiring Filipinos.

“In many industries around the world, if all else being equal, kung pantay-pantay lang lahat, ‘Ah Pilipino ‘yung kukunin ko. Mas gusto ko Pilipino.’ For me, that is the most important part of all this development that we are doing,” President Marcos said.

Appendix 4: Copy of Article 2 (UN Secretary-General's Message)

UN Secretary-General's Message for the International Day of Peace – 21 September 2025.

"Our warring world is crying out for peace.

This year's International Day of Peace urges each of us to give voice to that call.

Around the world lives are being ripped apart, childhoods extinguished, and basic human dignity discarded, amidst the cruelty and degradations of war.

We are seeing an explosion of conflict.

International law flouted.

And record numbers of people fleeing their homes.

All they want is peace.

Peace is everyone's business. The impacts of war ripple around the world.

We must silence the guns. End the suffering. Build bridges. And create stability and prosperity.

Sustainable development supports peace – nine of the 10 countries struggling most with development are suffering conflict.

And we must quell the racism, dehumanisation and misinformation that throw fuel on the fires of conflict.

Instead, we must speak the language of respect, open our hearts to others.

And use our influence to push for peace.

Where we have peace, we have hope.

Families unite, communities rebuild, children learn and play.

Peace cannot wait – our work starts now."

– António Guterres, 21 September 2025.

Appendix 5: Performance Rubric for Option 2 (Let the pen speak!)

Criteria	Excellent (5 pts)	Proficient (4 pts)	Developing (3 pts)	Beginning (2 pt)
Understanding of the Speech	Demonstrates deep and accurate understanding of both speeches; clearly explains main ideas and context.	Shows good understanding with minor inaccuracies; explains main ideas adequately.	Shows partial understanding; misses some key ideas or context.	Shows limited or inaccurate understanding of the speeches.
Interpretation and Insight	Provides thoughtful and original insights; clearly connects messages to social or personal relevance.	Offers relevant interpretation with some insight; attempts to connect to context.	Interpretation is basic and lacks depth; limited connection to context.	Interpretation is unclear or off-topic; no meaningful insight provided.
Organization and Coherence	Analysis is well-organized, logical, and easy to follow.	Ideas are organized but may lack smooth transitions.	Organization is inconsistent; ideas sometimes unclear.	Lacks clear organization; ideas are difficult to follow.
Use of Language	Uses precise, formal, and appropriate language; minimal to no errors.	Language is generally clear and appropriate with minor errors.	Some lapses in clarity or tone; several grammatical errors.	Language is unclear, informal, or contains frequent errors.
Completeness and Effort	All required parts are complete; shows exceptional effort and engagement.	Most parts are complete; shows good effort.	Some parts missing; effort is evident but uneven.	Incomplete submission; minimal effort shown.
